

McGregor's X and Y Theory

---

Separates behavior and thus management styles into 2 models:

- ❑ Theory X –belief that people are lazy, thus they must be micro-managed, watched, and/or threatened to get to perform
- ❑ Theory Y –views people as self-motivated and want to achieve, thus they can direct own efforts with management's role to develop their potential